Technical Tips for ads

Ads should be camera-ready—meaning they are ready to be published by appropriate computer software (i.e., as a .PDF, .JPG or .TIFF). Straight Microsoft Word documents are NOT acceptable.

Resolution of graphics needs to be 200 dpi (dots per inch) at a minimum. Higher resolutions are acceptable, but not necessary. Anything less than 200 dpi may result in low quality of the image.

Ads should be in black-and-white (grayscale). We are able to do conversions from a color photo to grayscale, but cannot guarantee the final product will look as expected.

Ads should be as close to the final size as possible. Some distortion may occur if the ad or photo needs to be resized.

Final format and images must not exceed 1MB in size. If your file is more than 1MB, please try to compress the image, using PDF or JPEG functions or a compression software such as Zip. If the file is still too large, you can burn it on a CD and drop that off at the Community Council offices.

In general, simple is better. Too much information in one ad may make readers just skip over it. Remember, white space is your friend. Due to overhead costs, the Forum is printed on low-quality medium newsprint, so complex graphics and photos may not turn out as well as expected.

Contracts & Discounts

The Dayton's Bluff District Forum offers advertising discounts with a contract agreement:

6-month contract	10% discount
12-month contract	15% discount
Prepaid contracts	additional 5% discount

If contract is not prepaid, advertisers must pay their accounts in full within 30 days following each billing. Discounts will be deducted with each advertisement. Discounts are based only on advertising space and do not include production costs such as ad design or scanning, etc.

Political Advertising

Regular advertising rates apply. Dayton's Bluff District Forum reserves the right to refuse any political ad judged libelous or containing blatant misrepresentation of facts.
